

MEDICALLY NECESSARY ULTRASOUND
CONSENT

As a patient of WHA, d.b.a Capital Area OB/GYN, it may be necessary for you to have an ultrasound performed by a certified ultrasound technician, nurse practitioner or physician in our office. This procedure is a non-invasive modality to aid in diagnosing and treating you more effectively.

The American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists believes ultrasound to be safe. Obstetrical and Gynecological ultrasound has been in clinical use for many years and has not caused harm to any human or fetus.

A basic obstetrical ultrasound may be done to assess viability, assess gestational age, check for a specific problem or to view the baby and it's surroundings. Ultrasound may detect many, but not all, fetal or gynecological abnormalities.

We will be glad to answer any questions you have about your ultrasound and its benefits and limitations for you.

I have read and completely understand the above information regarding ultrasounds. I also understand it is my responsibility to see that the charge for the ultrasound is paid by my insurance company or myself.
