LIVINGSTON HEALTHCARE AND DANFORTH JOINT EVENT WILL RAISE FUNDS TO FIGHT BREAST CANCER

Livingston HealthCare and Park County Friends of the Arts (PCFA) are joining forces to raise awareness about breast cancer and give the community a chance to get some bling for a cause.

PCFA and Livingston HealthCare will host the grand opening of Bling!, a jewelry show and fundraiser, on October 23 at 5:30 pm at the Danforth Gallery at 106 North Main Street in Livingston. Fifteen local and regional jewelry designers and one local artist will display their work. Each designer will offer one piece to be sold in support of the Livingston HealthCare Mammogram Fund. All the proceeds from the sale of these donated pieces will go towards paying for mammograms for women who are uninsured or underinsured in Park, Sweet Grass, and Meagher Counties.

There will be something for everyone, with a wide range of prices and styles, and it's just in time for the holidays. The designers who are participating in this unique event are:

Karen Arrasmith	Jeanna Morrison-Noel	Anna Visscher
Sarah Ann Boyle	Katie Murphy	Janet Vitale
Bonnie Goodman	Christina Perry
Lois Gronseth	Emily Peters	With paintings by Holly
Jaime Grundner	Shelley Roberts	Manneck
Sarah Homans	Lori Ryker
Toni Moilanen	Gwen Strachen

This event has been made possible by additional support from Livingston Ace Hardware, Crown Creations Cabinetmakers, First Interstate Bank, and the Park High Fall 2009 Manufacturing Class.

Bling! will run through November 28. For more information visit www.livingstonhealthcare.org or www.pcfadanforth.org.
