

Komen Foundation makes local grant

The Susan G. Komen Race for the Cure, an annual foot race held in Helena to raise money for breast cancer screening and prevention, has announced it has awarded the Livingston HealthCare Foundation $7,500 for its Paint Park County Pink program.

Paint Park County Pink is an initiative to promote breast health and breast cancer prevention education. It also includes the Livingston HealthCare Mammogram Program, which funds free clinical breast exams for women of all ages and free mammograms for women age 49 and under who are uninsured or underinsured.

Information on these free programs, along with applications, is available online at www.livingstonhealthcare.org.
